

Licensing Academy: Intellectual Property and Technology Transfer™
June 18 – June 29, 2018
University of California, Davis

PIPRA, in collaboration with the UC Davis School of Law, will host the eighth edition of its 10-day Licensing Academy course on intellectual property (IP) management and technology licensing in Davis, California from June 18 to June 29, 2018. The Academy will cover topics such as U.S. and international frameworks for IP protection, IP management for technology commercialization, licensing, IP issues in negotiating international agreements, creating offices for IP management and technology transfer, and launching startup companies based on research generated at public sector institutions. The program will be based on lectures from a faculty comprised of university professors and active professionals working in the Silicon Valley and Sacramento areas, including technology transfer managers and lawyers. Additional program components include group exercises, practical case studies, and field trips.

More information on the course is available from:

<https://law.ucdavis.edu/international/summer/licensing-academy.html>

http://pipra.org/en/page/Default/licensing_academics_1

Tuition*: $3,230

PIPRA has a limited number of scholarships available for qualified participants. These scholarships provide the amount of $1,500 towards tuition. However, the PIPRA scholarships do not cover the remainder of tuition costs ($1,730), nor costs related to lodging, meals, or transportation. If you are interested in the course and would like to apply for a scholarship, please send the following items to licensingacademy13@gmail.com: (1) cover letter; (2) C.V.; and (3) 2 letters of support (these letters should explicitly discuss your level of proficiency in English if you are coming from a non-English speaking country). The cover letter should include (1) your background and experience related to technology management; (2) a description of how the course will benefit your career; and (3) how you will pay for the remainder of tuition costs ($1,730), the expense of traveling to California and other costs incurred while in Davis that will not be covered by the scholarship.

Scholarship Selection Criteria:

- Applicant is currently working in innovation technology transfer
- Applicant's attendance in the course will benefit his/her country
- Priority will be given to applicants from developing countries, however all candidates are welcome to apply.

The submission deadline for scholarship applications is 17:00 PST on April 16, 2018.
Only one scholarship per institution will be awarded.